

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
INTRODUCTION Purpose and currency of checklist. This checklist is designed for use with the CLIENT IDENTIFICATION AND VERIFICATION PROCEDURE (A-1) checklist, the FAMILY PRACTICE INTERVIEW (D-1) checklist, and the FAMILY LAW AGREEMENT PROCEDURE (D-2) checklist. The provisions suggested in this checklist must be considered in relation to the particular facts in the matter at hand, and augmented and revised as appropriate. This checklist is current to September 1, 2017. New developments: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Supreme Court Family Rules amendments. The Supreme Court Family Rules (B.C. Reg. 169/2009) (the “SCFR Rules”) were amended effective July 1, 2016, pursuant to B.C. Reg. 4/2016, to provide for the procedure for divorces under the Civil Marriage Act, S.C. 2005, c. 33, adding Rule 2-2.1 and Forms F1.1, F1.2, F3, and F4. • Law Society Rules <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Trust protection insurance. In April 2017, the Law Society Rules were amended to ensure compliance with s. 30 of the Legal Profession Act, S.B.C. 1998, c. 9, which requires lawyers to maintain trust protection insurance and professional liability insurance. Also, the language of the Rules was made consistent with that in the Act. See Law Society Rules 2-16(3) and (6), 2-19(3), 2-22(3), 2-32, 2-40(2), 2-49(1), 2-77(1), 2-79(1), 2-82(1), 2-117(1), 3-39 heading and (3), 3-39.1, 3-44(1) and (2), and 3-46(1) to (3) and (5). • Reporting criminal charges to the Law Society. To prevent the risk of breaching undertakings of confidentiality to the Crown, lawyers are no longer required to disclose certain information when reporting criminal charges to the Law Society (Law Society Rule 3-97, January 2017 amendment). • Providing contact information to the Law Society. In January 2017, the contact information that members must provide to the Law Society was expanded to include telephone numbers and email addresses (Law Society Rules 2-9, 2-10, and 2-11). • The Law Society Rules are published at www.lawsociety.bc.ca/support-and-resources-for-lawyers/act-rules-and-code/law-society-rules. • Searches of lawyers’ electronic devices at borders. In response to the Law Society’s concerns about the searches of lawyers’ electronic devices by Canada Border Services Agency officers, the Minister of Public Safety advised that officers are instructed not to examine documents if they suspect they may be subject to privilege, if the documents are specifically marked with the assertion they are privileged, or if privilege is claimed by a lawyer with respect to the documents. View the Minister’s letter and Law Society’s response at www.lawsociety.bc.ca/our-initiatives/rule-of-law/issues-that-affect-the-rule-of-law. Lawyers are reminded to claim privilege where appropriate and to not disclose privileged information or the password to electronic devices containing privileged information without client consent or a court order. See also “Client Confidentiality— Think Twice before Taking Your Laptop or Smart Phone across Borders” in the Spring 2017 Benchers’ Bulletin. • Fraud prevention. Lawyers should maintain an awareness of the myriad scams that target lawyers, including the bad cheque scam and fraudulent changes in payment instructions, and must be vigilant about the client identification and no-cash rules. See the “Fraud Prevention” page on the Law Society website at www.lawsociety.bc.ca/support-and-resources-for-lawyers/lawyers-insurance-fund/fraud-prevention.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Code of Professional Conduct for British Columbia (the “BC Code” <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Introduction. An introduction was added in March 2017 based on the Federation of Law Societies’ Model Code of Professional Conduct. In determining their professional obligations, lawyers must consult the Federation’s Model Code in its entirety and be guided in their conduct equally by the language in the rules, commentary, and appendices. Mandatory statements have equal force wherever they appear in the Federation’s Model Code. • Language rights. In March 2017, language rights provisions from the Federation’s Model Code were adapted for British Columbia (BC Code rules 3.2-2.1 and 3.2-2.2, including commentary). A lawyer must, when appropriate, advise a client of the client’s language rights, including the right to proceed in the official language of the client’s choice. A lawyer must not undertake a matter for a client unless the lawyer is competent to provide the required services in the official language of the client’s choice. • Short-term summary legal services. In June and September 2016, the “limited representation” rules regarding pro bono services were rescinded and replaced with a set of “short-term summary legal services” rules. See BC Code rule 3.1-2, commentary [7.2], rules 3.4-11.1 to 3.4-11.4, and commentaries regarding conflicts and confidentiality. (Note that “short-term summary legal services” differ from “limited scope retainers” and that the rules for the latter are unchanged.) Compare the differences in terms as defined by the BC Code in rules 1.1-1 and 3.4-11.1, and more generally, 7.2-6.1. • Amendment of transferring lawyer rules. In November 2016, the transferring lawyer rules were amended to more closely align with the Federation’s Model Code (see BC Code rule 3.3-7 and commentary and rules 3.4-17 to 3.4-26). Appendix D was rescinded. • Incriminating physical evidence. Under new BC Code rule 5.1-2.1, added in December 2016, a lawyer must not counsel or participate in the concealment, destruction, or alteration of incriminating physical evidence so as to obstruct or attempt to obstruct the course of justice (see also commentaries [1] to [7]). • Duty to sign court orders. Under March 2017 amendments to the BC Code, in the absence of a reasonable objection lawyers have a duty to promptly sign appropriately drafted court orders that have been granted or agreed to while the lawyer was counsel, notwithstanding a client’s subsequent instructions to the contrary or the lawyer’s discharge or withdrawal (see BC Code rule 3.7-9, commentary [6] and rule 5.1-2, commentary [5]). • Affidavits, solemn declarations, and officer certifications. In June 2016 amendments, references to the Supreme Court Civil Rules, B.C. Reg. 168/2009 were updated (Appendix A, paragraph 1, commentaries [11], [16], and [20] of the BC Code). • Table of contents. In June 2016, the table of contents was amended. The BC Code is published at www.lawsociety.bc.ca/support-and-resources-for-lawyers/act-rules-and-code/code-of-professional-conduct-for-british-columbia. • Since December 2015, designated paralegals have been permitted to represent clients at family law mediations with the supervising lawyer’s permission (see BC Code rule 6.1-3.3 and commentary).

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
Of note: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Family Law Act. The Family Law Act, S.B.C. 2011, c. 25 (the “FLA”) came into force on March 18, 2013, along with accompanying amendments to the Provincial Court (Family) Rules, B.C. Reg. 417/98 (see B.C. Reg. 132/2012 and B.C. Reg. 122/2014) and the SCFR Rules. The FLA repealed the Family Relations Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 128 (the “FRA”) and effected fundamental changes to family law in British Columbia, particularly regarding children and the division of property after the breakdown of a relationship. The FRA continues to affect orders and agreements made under it, as well as cases commenced under the FRA but not concluded by the time the FLA came into force. Consider the transition provisions of the FLA when advising clients regarding family law proceedings that were under way when the FLA came into force. For educational material about the FLA, including a concordance between the FRA and the FLA, see www.justicebc.ca. The Family Law Act Transition Guide and The Family Law Act: Everything You Always Wanted to Know are available from the Continuing Legal Education Society of British Columbia. • Unmarried spouses. Family law agreements made before, during, or after a relationship between unmarried spouses (whether of the same or the opposite sex) are subject to judicial review for fairness on the same basis as agreements made between married spouses. Review FLA, Part 5, which provides for division of property between spouses (married and unmarried alike). Review FLA, Parts 3 and 4 regarding significant regime changes concerning children, and review FLA, Part 7 concerning support. • Incapacity and adult guardianship legislation. Amendments to the Power of Attorney Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 370 and the Representation Agreement Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 405, in effect March 25, 2015 (Justice Statutes Amendment Act, 2015, S.B.C. 2015, c. 6) provide for termination of powers of attorney or representation agreements upon separation of spouses if a spouse is, respectively, an attorney or representative. • Aboriginal law. If the client or the other party has ties to an Aboriginal community, special considerations may apply (e.g., see items 1.7 and 2.18.6 in the FAMILY PRACTICE INTERVIEW (D-1) checklist). Note the requirements of FLA, Part 10, Division 3, which provide for standing and notice in cases concerning Nisga’a and treaty first nations children and treaty lands. Review the federal Family Homes on Reserves and Matrimonial Interests or Rights Act, S.C. 2013, c. 20, which pertains to the ability of First Nations to make rules about family residences on reservation lands and how those homes will be used and occupied upon the breakdown of a spousal relationship. Sections 13 to 52 apply to First Nations that have not enacted their own matrimonial real property laws. The Act applies to married and common-law spouses living on reserve lands where at least one spouse is a First Nations member or an Indian. It provides separate regimes for matrimonial property division for member and non-member spouses on reserve and is very different from the provincial legislation. Consider whether a lawyer with Aboriginal law experience should be consulted. Further information on Aboriginal law issues is available on the “Aboriginal Law” page in the Practice Points section of the CLEBC website (www.cle.bc.ca) and in other CLEBC publications. • Additional resources. For more information regarding the drafting of separation agreements, see Family Law Agreements—Annotated Precedents, 3rd. ed. (CLEBC, 1998–).

Ensure that the date of the agreement is not later than commencement of spousal support payments. If the date is later than the commencement of spousal support, ensure that earlier payments are specifically set out as prior spousal support (see also item 9.13 below) and obtain tax advice, if necessary, regarding the specific wording required to make prior spousal support tax-deductible to the payor spouse. 2. PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
2.4 Others (e.g., individuals contracting with the separating spouses concerning children or assets). Note: separation agreements are typically between spouses and do not usually include third parties. Consider any obligations owed to or by third parties that should be settled by the agreement. Caution: review FLA, s. 44, on agreements by a child’s guardians, and note that such an agreement about parenting arrangements is only binding if made after separation or when the parties are about to separate and the terms are to be effective on separation. Note also FLA, s. 50: a person cannot become a child’s guardian by agreement except where the person is a parent or as provided under the Adoption Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 5, or the Child, Family and Community Service Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 46. Other non-parent guardians must be appointed by the court (FLA, s. 51). 3. RECITALS 3.1 Particulars of marriage (date and place of marriage) or marriage-like relationship (cohabitation date and place of relationship), birthdates and ages of parties. If the parties cohabited prior to marriage refer to both dates. 3.2 Particulars of separation. .1 Date(s) of separation and any periods of reconciliation. .2 Expectation of continued separation without prospect of reconciliation. 3.3 Children. .1 Names, ages, and birthdates of dependent children. .2 List independent children, if necessary. .3 If no children, are any expected? .4 Are any of the children stepchildren to one of the spouses? (Note that under FLA, s. 147(4), a stepparent does not have a duty to support a stepchild unless that stepparent contributed to that child’s support for at least a year and a claim for support for that child is brought within one year of the date the stepparent last contributed. The test under the Divorce Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. 3 (2nd Supp.) is more complex. Caution: review FLA, Part 3: Parentage. .5 Consider listing any pertinent information regarding the children, such as disabilities, special needs, or attendance at post-secondary education. 3.4 Reasons for agreement. .1 Separation. .2 Avoidance of controversy. .3 Final settlement of rights. .4 Interim settlement or partial settlement. .5 Statement that arrangements are in the best interests of the children, with supporting reasons. .6 Consider whether to include a clause about non-variation, stating the parties have resolved all matters between them and it is their intention that the entire agreement stand, that provisions for property division and spousal support are not intended to be varied by a court. 3.5 Issues to be settled by the agreement. .1 Guardianship, custody, and parenting arrangements.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> .2 Child support. .3 Spousal support. .4 Management of, ownership in, or division of family property or other property, after separation. Note: there are no triggering events under the Family Law Act, S.B.C. 2011, c. 25 (the “FLA”) except separation. .5 Excluded property. .6 Responsibility for debts. 3.6 Previous agreements. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Identify any prior agreements, including marriage or cohabitation agreements as well as interim agreements. .2 Rescind or replace prior agreements. .3 Vary prior agreements. .4 Continue all or part of a prior agreement, if applicable. 3.7 Previous and current court orders, and whether these are being varied by agreement (draft the variation order consistent with agreement). 3.8 Previous and current legal proceedings. 3.9 Whether agreement is the result of mediation or the result of a collaborative process. 3.10 Legal and municipal description of family residence and any other real property. 3.11 Schedule of property (assets and liabilities) or completed SCFR Form F8 (Form F8 is preferable given the duty to disclose in FLA, s. 5) of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 First spouse. .2 Second spouse. 3.12 Statement of awareness of assets of other party. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Consider provision to ensure full disclosure. Note the FLA, s. 5 duty to disclose, and consider terms to acknowledge that failure to make full and frank disclosure may result in the agreement being set aside (see FLA, s. 93(3)). .2 Statements that each party has made full disclosure of their assets and liabilities and is aware the other party is relying on same. .3 Attach sworn statements of property. 3.13 Statement of what the parties acknowledge to be family property within the meaning of FLA, Part 5, and acknowledge to be excluded property (FLA, s. 85) (see Schedules, items 15.1 and 15.2 below); note that client’s undivided half interest is subject to a separation agreement. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Acknowledge and detail any third-party contributions to family or excluded property and whether the contributions were made to one spouse or the spouses jointly. 3.14 Statement of occupation and income, including most recent Line 150 Income, of parties. Identify any disability of a spouse. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 First spouse.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.2 Second spouse. .3 Third parties and dependent children, if applicable and relevant. 3.15 Statement that parties have obtained or had the opportunity to obtain independent legal advice or representation. See BC Code rules 3.4-32 and 3.4-33 regarding a certification of independent legal advice and rule 7.2-9 with respect to dealing with an unrepresented person on a client’s behalf. 3.16 Preamble to operative clauses.
4. INTRODUCTORY/INTERPRETATION CLAUSES
4.1 General. (Placement of general clauses is a matter of drafting style. They are variously placed at the beginning and the end of the agreement. See also item 14.) .1 Statement that recitals are correct and form part of the agreement. .2 Statement that any schedules to the agreement form a part of the agreement. .3 Statement of governing law. Consider including a statement that the parties are aware of the FLA, the Divorce Act, and the Wills, Estates and Succession Act, S.B.C. 2009, c. 13 (the “WESA”), and agree that, regardless of any subsequent amendments or legislative changes, the terms in their separation agreement are intended to apply. Review FLA, s.109 concerning extraprovincial property. .4 Statement that each party has been advised of his or her rights and has obtained independent legal advice, or has been advised of his or her rights and has chosen not to obtain independent legal advice. .5 Statements that each party signs the agreement voluntarily, without undue influence or coercion, and that the agreement adequately provides for his or her present and future needs. .6 Definitions. .7 Statement that the agreement constitutes the full and final settlement of all issues, except that it may be amended by written agreement of the parties (witnessed independently in the same manner as this agreement). Review FLA, ss. 44(4), 58(4), 93, 148(3), and 164 as to the court’s jurisdiction to alter or set aside agreements about specific issues. .8 Release by both spouses of all claims, including claims in trust, arising out of the marriage, marriage-like relationship, or joint ownership of property, except as set out in the agreement. .9 Statement that the agreement survives divorce. Consider provisions for obtaining a divorce, who will pay for it, and cooperation concerning service. .10 Provisions that the parties have read and understood the contents of the agreement and are aware of the effect, purpose, and intent of the agreement. .11 Provision that the agreement binds an estate. Consider whether support payments should be specifically included or excluded. .12 Provision that the words of the agreement are those of both parties (contra proferentem does not apply).

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.13 Provision for resolution of disputes. The agreement may specify different dispute resolution processes for different issues (e.g., parenting coordinator for specified child-related issues, mediation, or arbitration for income disputes, while some issues may be reserved to the court, such as varying terms of supervised contact). .14 Provision setting out the effective date of the agreement. .15 Provision that any headings are for reference and do not have legal meaning. 4.2 Personal relations statements. .1 No reasonable prospect of reconciliation. .2 Each spouse or party has the right to live separate and apart from the other as though unmarried. .3 The agreement does not constitute a bar to actions based on subsequent misconduct. .4 The effect of reconciliation and what constitutes reconciliation.
5. GUARDIANSHIP
5.1 Sole guardianship. Review FLA, Part 4 (Care of and Time with Children). Note that the FLA provides a significantly different parenting regime than the Family Relations Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 128 and the Divorce Act. Consider the interplay between custody and access under the Divorce Act and guardianship and parenting arrangements under the FLA. If both parents have guardianship by virtue of FLA, s. 39, set out clear terms regarding when one parent alone might exercise guardianship rights.
5.2 Joint guardianship and the terms or definition of it, if any. Parents living together are presumed to be the guardians of their children, including upon separation (FLA, s. 39), and they share all parental responsibilities (FLA, s. 40). Consider how the parties will share or allocate parenting responsibilities between themselves, and how they will resolve disputes if they are unable to agree (e.g., mediation before applying to court, application to court pursuant to FLA, s. 49, or involvement of a parenting coordinator—see FLA, s. 14, and www.bcparentingcoordinators.com for information).
5.3 Authority of the non-custodial guardian of the child or children. .1 Of the person of the child. .2 Of the estate of the child. Review FLA, Part 8 concerning children’s property. Note that guardians are not automatically entitled to receive children’s property.
5.4 Statement that corresponding provisions are to be included in wills.
6. PARENTING ARRANGEMENTS
6.1 Designation of guardians and/or custodial parent(s). Note that the custody-and-access regime of parenting remains available under the Divorce Act. If separating parties are married, consider which regime should apply to the parenting arrangements. Consider whether custody or guardianship provisions should apply. Consider doctrine of paramountcy if using provisions for custody and guardianship. .1 Sole custody/sole guardianship.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.2 Joint custody/joint guardianship. Set out the sharing of or allocation of parenting responsibilities under s. 41 of the FLA or s. 16 of the Divorce Act. .3 Define further any terms and expectations in relation to joint custody or joint guardianship, which might include a parenting schedule or a substantial portion of the child(ren)'s time being spent with each parent, with each parent having full control of the child(ren) at that time. If the plan is for joint custody and guardianship, or shared or split parenting (one or more children primarily resident with each parent), consider how the parenting responsibilities will be allocated and how the parties will make important decisions if they are unable to agree. 6.2 Define the allocation of parenting time between the guardian parents and any non-parent guardian. Consider including detailed provisions for holidays, special events, and scheduling adjustments. .1 Acknowledgment of fitness of one or both parties and that one or both continue(s) to have responsibilities as parent(s). .2 Define the roles of each parent. 6.3 Statement of the agreement to co-operate and support each other in their respective parenting roles. 6.4 Provisions for education and upbringing. .1 Type of education. .2 Type of religious instruction. .3 Other aspects of child(ren)'s upbringing. 6.5 Provision for right of first refusal. (Note that rights of first refusal for short periods (e.g., two hours) can be impractical and lead to increased conflict.) 6.6 Views of child(ren) (see FLA, s. 37(2)(b)). If appropriate, a statement that the child(ren)'s wishes were taken into account in setting out the terms of the agreement. 6.7 Provision dealing with emergency care of child(ren). Also consider emergencies arising where the guardian is unable to act, and see FLA, ss. 43(2) and 55 to 57. 6.8 Provision for death of parent or guardian. (see FLA, ss. 53 to 57). 6.9 Provision for right of, or restriction against, a guardian to move with child(ren). Review FLA, Part 4, Division 6 (Relocation), which significantly changes child mobility rules in British Columbia. .1 Provision that a guardian must not move ordinary residence of the child(ren) outside a specified area without either the written consent of the other guardian(s) or a court order. Advise client as to what constitutes a "relocation". Metro Vancouver is large and moves within it may not constitute a relocation, but can be very inconvenient for parenting. .2 Provision that before any move the relocating guardian must notify all other guardians of the date of the move and the new telephone number and address. Specific length of time for notice to be given prior to move. .3 Statement of who is to bear costs of parenting or contact time, including increased travel time, if a guardian moves outside a specified area.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
6.10 Provision for taking the child(ren) out of the jurisdiction. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Signed consent of both parties required before passports are obtained for the child(ren), consent not to be unreasonably withheld. .2 Provision that guardian(s) will provide passport (if necessary) for another to travel with child(ren), with travelling parent to provide itinerary, contact coordinates, and proof of adequate medical insurance. Consider provisions for timing and the cost of applications to compel provision of passports unreasonably withheld. .3 Provision that a party who takes the child(ren) outside the jurisdiction will be responsible for obtaining travel insurance for the child(ren) during the time away. If the party fails to obtain travel insurance, he or she will be solely responsible for the costs that would have been covered under a standard travel insurance policy. .4 Consider whether parties wish to execute non-expiring travel letters at the time they execute agreement. Consider specific protocols for travel with children, including restrictions to countries that are signatories to the Hague Convention. Consider whether children should be restricted to travel on Canadian passports only. 6.11 Provisions with respect to introducing new partners to the children. 6.12 Administrative provisions/dispute resolution. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Variation. .2 Counselling. .3 Mediation. .4 Parenting coordinator. .5 Arbitration. .6 Collaborative law. 6.13 Provision acknowledging that parties recognize the child(ren)'s needs will change, so the parties will review parenting arrangements from time to time, as appropriate and in their best interests. 7. CONTACT WITH CHILD (IF APPLICABLE) 7.1 Designation of who is to have access/contact (see FLA, s. 58). <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 First spouse. .2 Second spouse. .3 Grandparents. .4 Other relatives. .5 Others. 7.2 Right of access/contact for non-guardian parent. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Liberal and generous access/contact—specify meaning of “liberal”. .2 Reasonable access/contact—specify meaning of “reasonable”. .3 Specified access/contact (set out in schedule). .4 Correspondence, email, text messages.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.5 Telephone calls. .6 Annual vacations, holidays. .7 Making or approving requests to change these terms. 7.3 Limitations on rights of access/contact (see FLA, s. 61 concerning penalties for wrongful denial of parenting time or contact). .1 Specified times. .2 Specified places (geographical limitations). .3 Specified conditions. .4 No access/contact or supervised access/contact (specify who will supervise and how supervision will be paid for). 7.4 Access/contact obligations. .1 Reasonable. .2 Specified (i.e., scheduled) access/contact. (a) State whether all or only some children, and how determined. (b) Specify beginning and ending of access/contact periods by date and hour, who is to pick up and deliver the child(ren), and from where. (c) Advance notice of circumstances requiring change in schedule. (d) Provision for alternate child care arrangements (baby-sitter) paid for by non-guardian parent when unable to comply with scheduled access/contact. 7.5 Additional discretionary access/contact to be scheduled by advance notice and agreement of parties (and child(ren), where appropriate). Consider specific notice requirements (e.g., email, text, time frame). Consider such events as: .1 Statutory holidays. .2 Religious holidays. .3 Birthdays and other special occasions (e.g., Mother’s Day, Father’s Day, Halloween, school breaks, vacations). .4 Graduations. .5 Weddings. .6 Serious illness. .7 Death of family member.
8. CHILD SUPPORT 8.1 Specify amounts, beginning dates, and continuing dates of all payments. Specify Child Support Guidelines income of payor spouse, and the Guidelines income of receiving spouse (if relevant). (Note, the Federal Child Support Guidelines, SOR/97-175, proclaimed under the Divorce Act, apply in British Columbia as described in Family Law Act Regulation, B.C. Reg. 347/2012, Part 4.) 8.2 Type of payment. .1 Monthly Guidelines amount. If Guidelines s. 9 (shared custody) applies, set out the formula or method used to determine the amount.

.2 Guidelines s. 7 expenses. Consider limiting or specifying s. 7 expenses, and quantifying a specific monthly amount payable for agreed s. 7 expenses. Provide for a periodic accounting and a mechanism to adjust s. 7 expenses, to aid in enforcement. .3 If the amount differs from the Guidelines amount, say why it differs. 8.3 Manner of payment. .1 Monthly cheque from the supporting spouse. .2 Deposit into the supported spouse's account. 8.4 Review and variation in quantum of payment. .1 Tied to the supporting spouse's income and the Child Support Guidelines. .2 Alternative variation terms (e.g., tied to the Consumer Price Index for Canada or for a specified city or region), with reasons for these terms, so as to comply with Divorce Act, s. 15.1(5). .3 Provision for variation tied to any change in the Child Support Guidelines. .4 Provision for a child who reaches 19 years of age but is dependent for a reason other than for pursuing post-secondary education (addressed in item 8.7.3). .5 Provision for annual exchange of income tax returns and other applicable income documents pursuant to Child Support Guidelines, s. 21 (e.g., automatically as at a specified date, or on written request of one party). Consider dispute resolution terms (e.g., mediation). .6 Provision for reduction of payment where supporting spouse is unemployed due to sickness, accident, strike, or lay-off. Consider terms for dispute resolution if the parties cannot agree. 8.5 Provision for interest on arrears of support. 8.6 Provision for security for payment. .1 Clause giving the supported spouse a charge on the supporting spouse's assets in the amount of the arrears of support. .2 Clause giving the supported spouse the right to deduct an amount equal to the arrears of support from the proceeds of sale of the family residence. .3 Posting of a cash sum to be held in trust as long as payments are not in arrears. .4 Filing against the supporting spouse's real property under the Family Maintenance Enforcement Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 127. .5 Post-dated cheques. .6 Clause requiring life insurance to secure support obligations. Consider having proposed wording reviewed by the insurer to ensure effectiveness. .7 Clause securing the support by binding the payor's estate. 8.7 Events that would trigger the ending or variation of the obligation to pay support. .1 Child ceases to be a child of the marriage (Divorce Act, s. 2(2)), or as defined in FLA, s. 146, and for greater clarity, consider items .2 to .8 below. .2 Child reaches age 19 and is independent.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.3 Child completes a first degree, diploma or certificate from an accredited post-secondary educational institution. Consider terms for continued support for qualifying adult children pursuing post-secondary education, based on specified criteria: costs of post-secondary education, the child’s contributions, application of RESP funds, adjustments to basic table support if the child attends school away from home, full-time attendance, passing grades, right to receive a budget, proof of registration and grades, etc. .4 Child ceases to attend an educational institution on a full-time basis. Define full-time. .5 Child takes full-time employment (there may be an obligation to revive support if the child is subsequently unemployed and not in receipt of EI benefits). Define full-time. .6 Child ceases to live with the supported spouse and is not living away from home in order to be able to attend an educational institution on a full-time basis. .7 Child marries. .8 Child dies. .9 Payor dies. 8.8 If child support is a lower amount than set out in the Guidelines, explain this and say whether Divorce Act, s. 15.1(5)(a), applies. Detail “special provisions” in place to assist a reviewing court to assess arrangements. 8.9 Support for stepchildren. Note FLA, s. 147(4). 8.10 Provision for special or extraordinary expenses and how they will be apportioned between the spouses. (Alternatively, statement that in determining the amount of the support payment, the parties have taken into account all current special and extraordinary expenses and included in the amount of support any expenses under Child Support Guidelines, s. 7. Consider listing the s. 7 expenses that are included in the amount of support.) .1 Child care expenses (net of any tax break or subsidy). .2 Medical insurance premiums. Require one or both of the parents to keep the child(ren) on any medical insurance plan available through his or her employment. .3 Dental insurance premiums. Require one or both of the parents to keep the child(ren) on any dental insurance plan available through his or her employment. .4 Health-related expenses not included in basic insurance coverage, such as orthodontia, eyeglasses, and mental health care by medical and non-medical professionals. Require prior approval of expenditures for non-insured items. Consider requiring mutual consent to counselling, psychological or psychiatric treatment. .5 Educational expenses (define). Consider requiring prior approval of expenditures. Consider a protocol for post-secondary expenses such as requirements to take into account: child’s earnings, RESPs, student loans, and bursaries and scholarships before parents’ contribution, as well as attendance and performance standards for post-secondary contribution obligations.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.6 Expenses for extracurricular activities. Consider requiring prior approval if expenditures exceed a certain amount. .7 Support for children over the age of 19. Consider what effect the following will have on a supporting parent's child support obligation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Child's income. (b) Scholarships. (c) Bursaries. (d) Scholarship trust funds. (e) RESPs accumulated during marriage. (f) RESPs accumulated by one parent after separation. (g) Student loans. 8.11 Provision for the death of either parent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Obligation of parents to maintain life insurance, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Irrevocable designation of the children, or a trustee, as beneficiaries of the policy pursuant to the Insurance Act, S.B.C. 2012, c. 1, s. 60. (b) Length of time for which insurance is to be provided. (c) Provision that each parent is to provide evidence from time to time that insurance is in effect and that if this is not done, then the other parent has the right to pay the premiums and charge them to the supporting spouse pursuant to the agreement. Alternatively, consider having each parent acquire insurance on the life of the other parent or have the life-insured person sign an authorization permitting the other party to contact insurers directly. (d) Other enforcement provisions. Consider having proposed wording reviewed by the insurer to ensure effectiveness. .2 Obligation to make provisions for the children in wills. (Note: this may not be binding.) .3 Provision that the obligation to pay support is binding on the supporting spouse's estate, if insurance funds are inadequate. See FLA, s. 171 regarding support obligations after the death of a payor. .4 Alternatively, a provision that life insurance proceeds are payable to the supporting spouse's estate, and that the obligation to pay support is binding on the estate. Include terms for the release or transfer of insurance once the support obligation is concluded. 8.12 Tax considerations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Child support paid under orders or agreements made after April 30, 1997, are not taxed as income to the supported spouse, or deducted from income by the supporting spouse, absent a court order or agreement to the contrary. .2 Where there is joint custody of a child, provision needs to be made for which spouse is entitled to claim Child Tax Benefits and the equivalent-to-married deduction for a dependent child. Where there is a shared parenting regime the Child Tax Benefit is split to provide each parent with a monthly cheque. Contact Canada Revenue Agency.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
9. SPOUSAL SUPPORT 9.1 Specify amounts, beginning dates, and continuing dates of all payments. Specify the purpose of payments, if applicable (e.g., to obtain education). Consider the language in Miglin v. Miglin, 2003 SCC 24 specifying that the parties agree the terms are equitable and do not want the agreement varied. Consider stating that the parties are aware of the Spousal Support Advisory Guidelines available at www.justice.gc.ca (and if they do not follow the Guidelines, why that is considered fair and not to be varied). 9.2 Type of payment. (Consider income tax implications.) <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Monthly allowance. .2 Yearly allowance. .3 Lump-sum payment to supported spouse. 9.3 Amount and duration, unless indefinite, of payment. 9.4 Manner of payment. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Monthly cheque or electronic funds transfer from supporting spouse. .2 Purchase of life annuity. .3 Purchase of annuity for a term of years. .4 Payment to third party. (Consider provisions of the Income Tax Act, R.S.C. 1985, c. 1 (5th Supp.) regarding payments to third parties.) .5 Delivery of post-dated cheques. .6 Direct deposit. 9.5 Variation in quantum of payment. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Sliding scale tied to the supporting spouse's income. .2 Sliding scale tied to the supported spouse's income. .3 Combination of items .1 and .2. .4 Sliding scale tied to the Consumer Price Index (for Canada or for a specified city or region). .5 Provision for reduction of payment where supporting spouse is unemployed owing to sickness, accident, strike, or lay-off. 9.6 Provision for interest on arrears of support. 9.7 Provision for security for payment. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Clause giving the supported spouse a charge on the supporting spouse's assets in the amount of the arrears of support. .2 Clause giving the supported spouse the right to deduct an amount equal to the arrears of support from the proceeds of sale of the family residence. .3 Filing against the supporting spouse's real property under the Family Maintenance Enforcement Act. .4 Clause requiring life insurance to secure support obligations. .5 Clause securing the support by binding the payor's estate.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
9.8 Provision for events that would trigger termination or review of support obligations: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Remarriage of the supported spouse (or commencement of new marriage-like relationship). Consider strength of compensatory basis for support to assess whether termination on remarriage is fair. .2 Supported spouse taking up cohabitation with another person for a specified period of time. Consider strength of compensatory basis for support to assess whether termination on cohabitation is fair. .3 Supported spouse begins earning a specified amount of money from employment. .4 Specified time period elapses. .5 Death of a spouse. .6 Retirement of a spouse. .7 If support is to be reviewed, decide time period, which party has the onus of proving that support should continue or be varied/terminated, and how the review is to take place. Decide the terms of review (e.g., what information is relevant, what information must be provided, and the aspects to be reviewed, such as entitlement, quantum, or duration). Decide if support continues during the review period. Consider events that would not constitute a material change of circumstances triggering a review or variation. 9.9 Provision for the death of the supporting spouse. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Obligation of the supporting spouse to maintain life insurance, including: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Irrevocable designation of the supported spouse as a beneficiary of the policy pursuant to Insurance Act, s. 60. (b) Length of time for which insurance is to be provided. (c) Provision that the supporting spouse will provide evidence from time to time that insurance is in effect and that, if this is not done, the supported spouse has the right to pay the premiums and charge them to the supporting spouse pursuant to the agreement. Alternatively, consider having the supported spouse acquire insurance on the life of the supporting spouse, or have the supporting spouse sign an authorization allowing the supported spouse to contact the insurer directly. (d) Other enforcement provisions. .2 Obligation to make provisions for the supported spouse in the supporting spouse's will. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (a) If acting for the supported spouse, advise of the possibility that this provision will be breached, leaving the supported spouse to sue the estate for breach of contract. (b) Note: Part 4, Division 6 of the WESA re variation. .3 Provision that the executors will pay a lump sum to the supported spouse in satisfaction of a present debt. .4 Provision that the obligation to pay support is binding on the supporting spouse's estate (see FLA, s. 171). 9.10 Provision for dental and medical insurance. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Retention of family coverage; note that many plans do not cover spouses who have not cohabited for a specified period or are divorced.

PROVISIONS TO BE CONSIDERED	NOTES
.2 Supporting spouse to pay premiums. .3 Duration of obligation of supporting spouse. .4 Provision for the responsibility to pay medical and dental expenses not covered by insurance (note: most insurance companies will not cover a person who is no longer a spouse, or after a specific period of time following separation). 9.11 Effect of divorce on support provisions. .1 Support provisions are incorporated into the order for divorce. .2 Support provisions are incorporated into the order for divorce at the option of the supported spouse. .3 Support provisions will (or will not) merge upon order for divorce. 9.12 Tax considerations. .1 Periodic payments are taxable in the hands of the supported spouse; lump sum payments generally are not. Consult a tax expert if necessary. .2 Supported spouse is required to pay income tax on spousal support payments, and supporting spouse can claim a tax deduction for the payments (Income Tax Act, ss. 56(1)(b) and 60(b)). Consider tax effect if payor spouse is non-resident in Canada. Consult a tax expert if necessary. .3 In order for payments to third parties to be deemed to be received by the supported spouse, the agreement must provide that Income Tax Act, ss. 56.1(2) and 60.1(2) will apply to such payments. Consult a tax expert for wording, if necessary. 9.13 Prior spousal support. .1 The agreement may provide that payments made before the date it came into effect are taxable in the hands of the supported spouse (Income Tax Act, ss. 56.1(3) and 60.1(3)). Note that the agreement must be executed no later than the end of the year following receipt of payments. .2 Take care in drafting to specifically set out “prior spousal support payments” and ensure that these can be verified (e.g., by cancelled cheque). Consult a tax expert if necessary. .3 If third-party payments are to be included as prior spousal support, consider having clauses reviewed by a tax expert and ensure that the client can provide proof of payment. 9.14 If no support is payable by either spouse, consider a clause estopping either party from claiming interim or permanent support. Explain to the client that this may not preclude a subsequent application for spousal support. See comments at item 9.8.7 above re limiting events that constitute a material change in circumstances for the purposes of variation.
10. RESPONSIBILITY FOR DEBTS 10.1 Debts between the parties. Note FLA, s. 86 regarding “family debts”. .1 Acknowledgment of existence. .2 Provision for payment (set out who pays what in a schedule). .3 Security for payment (e.g., proceeds of sale of family property). .4 Responsibility/indemnity for non-scheduled debts.

10.2 Debts due to third parties (individually incurred). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Payable by first party. .2 Payable by second party. .3 Indemnity of each against third-party claims resulting from failure to pay. .4 Undisclosed debts to be assumed by the party who incurred them. 10.3 Recovery of specific property loaned. 10.4 Property of spouse pledged to secure debts of the spouse. 10.5 Joint obligations to third parties. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Continued joint obligations. .2 Close joint accounts. .3 One party assumes responsibility. (Note: this will not be sufficient to release the other party from liability for the debt unless the debt document is renegotiated with the third party.) .4 Indemnity to non-assuming party. .5 Consider responsibility for amounts due by either spouse to the Canada Revenue Agency for income earned prior to separation. 10.6 Return of credit cards to the spouse responsible for payment. 10.7 Indemnification from the supported spouse to the supporting spouse for debts contracted in the supported spouse's name after the date of the agreement. The amount of any of those debts paid by the supporting spouse will be deducted from support payments. 10.8 Provision that each spouse is solely responsible for debts and liabilities incurred after the date of the agreement. Consider specific possible future debts and how to protect against liability (e.g., joint liability for a spouse for income tax liabilities relating to past income splitting, related to a spouse's past role in a corporation, or capital gains tax).

Consider the following provisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Undisclosed property having a value over $1,000 is deemed to be property owned by the spouses as tenants-in-common. .2 If the spouses cannot otherwise agree on how to divide such undisclosed property, the property must be sold and the proceeds divided equally between the spouses. 11.19 Consider whether to specifically waive variation provisions of FLA, s. 95.
12. PROVISION FOR DEATH 12.1 Provision for payment of support out of the estate of the supporting spouse. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 To the supported spouse. .2 To children. 12.2 Provision for the supported spouse and children in the will. 12.3 Mutual provisions in the will. 12.4 Renunciation of rights under the Land (Spouse Protection) Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 246, and the Partition of Property Act, R.S.B.C. 1996, c. 347. 12.5 Release of claims against the estate that are not included in the agreement. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 On an intestacy under Part 3 of the WESA. .2 Part 4, Division 6 of the WESA applies to applications to vary a will. See item 9.9.2(b). 12.6 Consider the effect of Canada Pension Plan death benefits for spouse and child(ren). 12.7 Return of powers of attorney and cancellation of access authorizations.
13. SUBSTANTIVE TERMS WITH THIRD PARTIES 13.1 Consider what terms need to be included between the separating spouses and any third-party signatories to the agreement. 13.2 Consider whether any positive obligations regarding third parties can be contracted by the separating spouses rather than having a third party signatory to the agreement (e.g., John will cause ABC Inc. to execute a release in favour of Mary in the form attached as Schedule X or as acceptable to counsel acting on a commercially reasonable basis). Consider consequences of failure to receive release(s) contracted for (e.g., holdback from sale proceeds of home).

13.3 Consider whether any obligations between the separating parties and third parties (e.g., corporations) should be addressed in a separate agreement incorporated by reference or attached as a schedule to the separation agreement. Consider the terms of any applicable shareholders' agreement or guarantee in place. 14. GENERAL CLAUSES (Placement of general clauses is a matter of drafting style. See also item 4.) 14.1 What constitutes reconciliation, and its effect. 14.2 Effect of divorce. 14.3 Severability of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> .1 Void or voidable clauses. Consider whether these clauses should be severed or if there are specific clauses that, if severed, may make the entire agreement unfair. Note FLA, s. 93(3). .2 Clauses incorporated or confirmed by court order. 14.4 Entire agreement provision, and that there are no outside warranties or representations. 14.5 Provision for filing with the Supreme Court or with the Provincial Court under FLA, ss. 44(3), 58(3), 148(2), and 163(3), or with the land title office or personal property registry, FLA, ss. 99 and 100. But under FLA, s. 6(4)(c), filing with the court is not necessary to ensure that the agreement is binding. 14.6 No variation except by signed written agreement, witnessed in the same manner as the agreement. 14.7 Binding on the parties and their heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns (FLA, s. 6(3)). 14.8 Provision regarding who will bear the legal costs of the agreement and subsequent divorce. 14.9 Consider a clause stating that costs of a successful application for enforcement of the agreement will be paid by the defendant on a solicitor and own client basis. 14.10 Provision for incorporation of custody or support provisions in an order for divorce. 14.11 Notice provisions, including address of the parties and means by which notice may be given. 14.12 Dispute resolution clauses: e.g., mediation, arbitration, collaborative law, parenting coordinator. Note that dispute resolution may be mandatory in some cases (FLA, s. 9). Consider whether different dispute resolution methods may be appropriate for different types of dispute (e.g., parenting coordinator appointment, mediation, arbitration). 15. SCHEDULES 15.1 Family property in which first party has beneficial interest. 15.2 Family property in which second party has beneficial interest. 15.3 First party's liabilities. 15.4 Second party's liabilities.
