

Practice Resource

Retainer agreement

Administration of estates (grant of letters of administration)

Note to the lawyer

This package contains five parts:

1. Cover letter
2. Contract for Legal Services and Fees
3. Guide called Steps You Should Take Now
4. Guide called How to Safeguard the Assets of the Estate
5. Guide called How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate

It is designed to be given to your client following your first meeting. While some legal terms are briefly defined, it assumes you have discussed certain details with your client.

The original version of this agreement was created by The Continuing Legal Education Society's Plain Language Project with a grant from the Law Foundation (1994).

1. Cover letter

Dear [name of client]:

Re: Estate of [name of deceased], deceased

Thank you for asking my law firm to help you settle the estate of your [relationship], [name of deceased]. You have our sympathy on your loss. To follow up on our first meeting, you may find this outline of what we discussed helpful.

Four important documents enclosed

I enclose four important documents with this letter:

- Contract for Legal Services and Fees
- Steps You Should Take Now
- How to Safeguard the Assets of the Estate
- How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate

Please read the Contract for Legal Services and Fees carefully. It details the work my firm will do and the fees we will charge based on the discussions we had at our meeting. If you are satisfied with the contract, please sign and date one copy and return it to us so that I can begin work for you.

Steps You Should Take Now details the steps you need to take to prepare to administer the estate. One step is to make sure the estate assets are safe. Estate assets include money and property. How to Safeguard the Assets of the Estate describes this step. Another step you need to take is to list the assets and liabilities (debts) of the estate. This step is described in How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate.

Obtaining a grant of letters of administration

Once you give us the list of assets and liabilities, I will prepare the legal documents needed to apply to the court for a grant of letters of administration. A grant of letters of administration is a court order appointing you as administrator of the estate. It will give you the right to administer the estate. Usually financial institutions, the Land Title Office, and others will not deal with you as administrator until after the court gives you this order.

After the grant is obtained

Generally, the administrator must settle or pay all estate debts and then distribute the estate to the lawful heirs, the people who will receive the assets. I will help you put the assets into your name as administrator and then pass them on to the heirs.

After the grant has been obtained, we will discuss the further steps which you will take.

Please call me if you have any questions or if I can help in any way.

Yours truly,

[law firm signature]

2. Contract for legal services and fees

Part 1: Our services

Legal services covered by this Agreement

We agree to:

- prepare all documents needed to obtain a grant of letters of administration
- apply to the court for a grant of letters of administration
- help confirm the ownership of the deceased's assets
- arrange to transfer the assets to your name as administrator and then to the heirs
- advise you generally about administering the estate
- [Optional] assist you in passing your first accounts as administrator

We will keep you informed about matters that arise and discuss with you any significant decisions you must make.

Time

It will take at least one year before you can distribute the estate to the heirs and before this matter might finally be wound up. It could take longer, depending on the various factors we discussed when we met.

Your role as client

You understand the importance of giving us all the facts and of being totally honest with us. We can only do our best job if we have your trust and are fully informed.

In particular, we ask you to give us all information and documents you have, or have access to, which we need to go ahead. Some of the documents we need include the deceased's birth, marriage and death certificates; any separation agreements and court orders or judgments; all financial papers; and insurance policies. If necessary, we will ask you to give us written authorization to obtain this information.

Legal services not covered by this contract

This contract covers only the legal work described above. It does not cover the work to prepare or file income tax returns for the deceased or the estate.

If you ask us to perform other legal services on matters that arise, I will discuss this with you at the time and give you a separate estimate of our fees for these other services.

Part 2: Fees, expenses and billing arrangements

Our fee is an hourly fee

Our fees will be based on an hourly rate and will depend on the actual time spent. I will be the main lawyer responsible for your file, but from time to time other people in our office may do some of the work. Some work may need to be done by a more senior lawyer, and other work can be done equally well by a more junior lawyer.

There are also many services, such as gathering information and preparing routine documents, that our paralegal assistant is well qualified to perform. A paralegal works under the supervision of a lawyer, but may not give legal advice. Our paralegal can serve you at a lower cost than one of our lawyers can.

Our hourly rates are:

My rate	[$amount] per hour
[senior lawyer's] rate	[$amount] per hour
[junior lawyer's] rate	[$amount] per hour
[paralegal's] rate	[$amount] per hour

Legal expenses (also called disbursements)

In addition to our fees, you agree to pay all expenses (also called disbursements). The major expense will be court fees which are levied at a base rate of $208 (regardless of total value of estate), plus $6 for each $1,000 or part of $1,000 of estate value in excess of $25,000 up to $50,000, increasing to $14 for each $1,000 or part of $1,000 of estate value in excess of $50,000. These fees are payable when the application is made for the grant. If the estate value is less than $25,000 there are no fees payable, except for the base amount of $208. Usually, we can obtain these funds from the deceased's bank account. Minor expenses include any long distance telephone calls, photocopying costs, costs to deliver documents to court, and faxes.

PST/GST

In addition to our legal fees and expenses, you agree to pay any Goods and Services Tax (GST) and Social Services Tax (PST) that we must charge you.

Billing arrangements

We will bill you after we obtain the grant of letters of administration, and then every three months until the estate work is finished. You may pay these bills directly from the estate.

Interest on overdue bills

We charge interest at [one] percent per month ([12]% per year) on the balance of any bills that remain unpaid for more than 30 days. We will tell you in advance if we change the interest rate.

Part 3: Dealing with each other

Ending the relationship

By you

You are free to end our services before this matter is completed by writing us a letter or note. If you do, you agree to pay our fees and expenses for our legal services up until the time we stop work. We will ask you to sign a court form which tells the court we are no longer your lawyers.

By us

We are free to withdraw our services at any time if we have good reason. For example, we would withdraw our services if a client:

- did not cooperate with us in any reasonable request;
- ask us to do something unethical or illegal;
- did not pay our bills on time without making other arrangements for payment.

Again, you would have to pay our fees and expenses up until the time we stopped acting for you.

We would also have to withdraw our services if we learned of a conflict of interest that would make it unethical for us to continue to act for you. A conflict of interest occurs when what is best for one of our clients somehow is not best for or hurts another of our clients. If we have to withdraw our services for you because of a conflict of interest, you will only have to pay our expenses up until the time we stopped acting for you.

Confidentiality

As your lawyers, we have to share relevant information about this matter with the court and other parties involved. But unless we need to share this information as part of our work, all information you give us will be kept confidential between us.

Part 4: Review of our bills and of this contract

If you disagree with any bills we send you, you can ask us for clarification, but you also have the right to ask the Registrar of the Supreme Court of British Columbia to review them. Section 70 of the Legal Profession Act and Rule 57(3) of the Supreme Court Rules give you this right. Alternatively, the Law Society offers a fee mediation program that is an informal alternative to a fee review by the Registrar.

We also invite you to ask another lawyer to review this contract, if you wish, to make sure it is fair and reasonable.

Part 5: Signing this contract

This contract contains the whole agreement between us about our relationship with each other and our legal fees and expenses. It will not be changed unless you and we both agree and sign any changes. It will legally bind anyone, such as heirs or legal representatives who replace either you or us, but it does not legally bind other lawyers who might act for you if you decide to end our relationship.

If you are satisfied with this contract, please sign and date both copies and return one of them to us. Keep one for your records. If there is anything you do not agree with, or if there is anything you would like to discuss before signing, please call or write us.

Lawyer's signature

Date

I have read this contract carefully and I agree with it.

Client's signature

Date

3. Steps You Should Take Now

1. Safeguard the assets of the estate. See the enclosed guide How to Safeguard the Assets of the Estate.
2. Apply for Canada Pension Plan death benefits.
3. List all assets of the estate and estimate their value at the time of [name of deceased]'s death.

As a guide see the enclosed sheet called How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate. You may need to contact the banks and stockbrokers that the deceased used to complete your list.

4. Provide the latest tax assessment notices on property owned by [name of deceased], or have the property appraised as of the date of death.

You can consult the list of appraisers under Real Estate Appraisers in the phone book, or I can give you the names of one or two appraisers.

5. List all the debts and liabilities of the estate. Again, use the guide How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate.
6. Record all money you spend or receive as administrator.

You are entitled to be repaid from the estate for your reasonable expenses, including funeral expenses. Also, keep a diary of the steps you take as administrator: telephone calls made, interviews attended, mail sent or received, time spent, and so on.

7. Arrange to prepare and file income tax returns.

Three main tax returns are needed:

- a. one for the year before the death, if the deceased had not filed a return and if tax is payable;
- b. one for the year of death; and
- c. one for the tax year of the estate administration.

Contact an accountant to discuss the tax liabilities of the deceased and your responsibilities as administrator. The accountant can file the returns.

8. List the names of all those who must be legally notified, and include addresses.

Depending on the circumstances, these people may include current or previous spouses whether common-law or not, all children, other next-of-kin, and anyone else who might make a claim on the estate. I will tell the people that must be legally notified that you intend to act as administrator of the estate. Please indicate if anyone listed is under 19 years old or is mentally incompetent.

9. Gather the documents we will need to go ahead.

As we discussed, these include the deceased's birth, marriage and death certificates; any separation agreements, court orders or judgments; and financial papers.

4. How to Safeguard the Assets of the Estate

1. Keep cash, insurance policies, securities (stock certificates), jewelry, and other valuables in a safe place.
2. Lock up the deceased's home if nobody is staying there, and tell the police. Most insurance policies will allow you to leave a house vacant for 30 days and still provide coverage. Get vacancy coverage after that time.
3. Check the insurance on the deceased's assets (car, house, furniture). Check the expiry dates and tell the insurers of the death.
4. Arrange for someone to manage the deceased's business until the estate is settled.
5. Make banking arrangements. Tell the banks of the death. Collect and deposit any outstanding cheques (pensions, dividends, interest, salary). Cancel the deceased's credit cards.
6. Redirect mail if necessary.
7. Check the dates that bonds mature.
8. Check mortgages and agreements for sale. Make the payments to keep them up to date, if possible.
9. Check leases and tenancies. Pay rent that is owed, if possible. Also, give tenants notice of termination, if necessary, and notice about where to send rent payments.
10. Review the last cheques written by the deceased to make sure there are no irregularities.

5. How to List the Assets and Liabilities of the Estate

These steps apply to many estates, but they may not all apply to the estate that you are administering. Please call me if you have any questions about these possible steps.

1. Arrange with the deceased's bank to view and list the contents of the safety deposit box. A bank employee is required to review the contents with you and make a list.

Write down the names, numbers and maturity dates of the securities; expiry dates of warrants and conversion rights; the transfer agents for stocks and bonds; details of unclipped coupons; and dates of issue of stock certificates.

2. Record all your expenses as administrator. Keep a record of all the time you spend to do your job as administrator, to support your administrator's fee.
3. List all banks where the deceased had accounts or loans. Include the account numbers.

For each account, ask the bank for the balance as of the date of death, including any accrued but unposted interest. Collect any bank books or statements of account, and get the bank to update them to the date of death. Remember that accounts may include term deposits, GICs, Registered Retirement Savings Plans, and Registered Retirement Income Funds.

4. List all securities, stocks or bonds owned by the deceased which are not listed in the contents of the safety box.

If possible, ask the deceased's broker for their market value at the date of death.

5. List all real estate which the deceased owned alone or with others.

Also list any mortgages or agreements for sale which the deceased owned. Provide the full addresses of all property. Give the latest tax assessment notices on property owned by the deceased, or have the property appraised as at the date of death.

[Add this sentence if needed] Do this same step for any property owned by someone else, but on which the deceased held a mortgage and loaned money to the owner to buy the property. Also do this same step for property sold by the deceased under an agreement for sale where the purchaser still owes money to the deceased.

6. List any cheques or refunds owing to the deceased which have not been received or deposited. This includes pay cheques, pension cheques and any repayments or refunds owing to the deceased.

[Add this sentence if needed] It also includes cheques or income owing from deferred profit sharing plans, dividends, and interest.

7. List any business assets or shares in a company owned by the deceased. If possible, get these assets or shares valued as of the date of death.

8. Identify all people or businesses who owed money to the deceased. Give any details you can about the nature of the debt and the amount owing.
9. List any other assets such as cars, boats, household goods, jewelry, cameras and other personal effects. Describe them briefly, including available serial numbers. Include their estimated values.
10. List all outstanding debts and liabilities.
11. List any agreements or court orders involving the deceased.

This might include divorce decrees, maintenance orders, marriage agreements, Family Relations Act orders, guarantees, buy-sell agreements, partnership agreements, leases, employment contracts, or insurance the deceased owned on the life of another.