Dear Colleague,

We are sorry for the delay in responds to the Retainers agreement you sent us, as it was important we go through the document and make sure its falls within what our client will accept and will be ready to co operate with, However after due delegation with our client there was a need for the ex husband to be informed of our intention to sue him for not payment of the outstanding amount he own due to his separation from his wife, he said, he did not want this case to go Further he had agreed to make a partial payment, Meanwhile my client Can 't make any payment at this time, so she did advice her ex husband to send your fees in addition to what ever part payment he said he will be sending to you this week.

Please be advice that my client ex husband Mr Hachiuma Kamenosuke request for Your information to be sent to his company accountant where he worked, who will be sending out this payment to you on behalf of him and his ex wife,he Also Said you SHOULD Provide your payment information Such as

Contact Name:

Cheque Payable Name:

Mailing Address:

Mobile Number:

You are also expected to establish contact with his accountant in the name of Mr Morgan Clarence, who is expected to sent out this payment to you Via his company Cashiers Cheque, which, However will be sent on Installment bases, His contact info.is as follows

Name: Mr Morgan Clarence. E mail: clarencem55@yahoo.ca Phone Number:6477840284

Please you are expected to make contact with Mr Morgan Clarence as soon as you can to avoid further delay on this issue, I hope this will be enough for now, and also you are to keep me informed about the contact and discussions between you and Mr Morgan Clarence, Thank You.

Kind Regards,
