

Use of abusive language

ROBERT JOHN SAUCIER

(Surrey)

Called to the Bar: May 14, 1973

A mother whose four children had been apprehended by the Ministry of Human Resources retained the member to represent her in a Family Court hearing on December 9, 1985.

On that date, the member approached M.H.R. social workers who were standing in the corridor outside the courtroom. Shouting foul and insulting language, he criticized the social workers' actions in apprehending his client's children.

Discipline Digest — 1987: No. 2 August (Saucier)