The summary of the Paul Singh Hundal admission of professional misconduct published in August, 1987 issue of the Discipline Digest, requires clarification.

The summary states that Mr. Hundal breached Law Society trust accounting rules by, among other things, “endorsing client cheques over to third parties without passing the funds through his practice bank accounts”. Mr. Hundal received these funds for services rendered. He breached accounting rules not in failing to pass the funds through his practice bank accounts but in failing to record receipt of the funds, as required under Chapter 5, Article 1.7.
